

At a Glance – Silent Night
by Kevin Puts (1972)

OPERA BACKGROUND

- Silent Night, an opera in two acts by composer Kevin Puts and librettist Mark Campbell, was commissioned and premiered by Minnesota Opera in 2011.
- The opera is based on the 2005 French film, Joyeux Noel, which recounts the true story of a spontaneous ceasefire (known as the 1914 Christmas Truce) among Scottish, French and German soldiers during World War I.
- Kevin Puts won the Pulitzer Prize for Music in 2012 for Silent Night - his first opera.

WHAT HAPPENS?

- A horrific battle is fought. Nikolaus violently stabs a man to death. Jonathan is forced to leave his brother, who has been shot, on the battlefield. Casualties on all sides are assessed and lamented.
- Gifts arrive on Christmas Eve for the troops, followed by sentimental singing by the soldiers on all sides. The three lieutenants agree to a cease-fire. The soldiers bravely enter no-man's land, greet one another and share their gifts.
- Father Palmer sets up a makeshift church and leads a mass. Anna appears and sings for the troops.
- The truce is extended so the dead can be buried.
- Word of the truce reaches headquarters. Troops on all sides get reprimanded.
